DAVIS ACCEPTANCE SPEECH BY RADIO

WILL BE BROADCAST BY NUMBER OF STATIONS.

TO BE RECEIVED HERE

Democrat-Forum, Co-Operating With Harry C. Todd of Hanamo Telephone Co., Will Receive Address.

Radio's cup of big acts was not quite filled to overflowing with the recent broadcasting of the two national political conventions. For Monday night the Kansas City Star's station, WDAF, in conjunction with other large broadcasters of the country, will bring to the people of the West the ceremony on the occasion of the formal notification of John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for President of the United States.

The Star will broadcast also the acceptance speech of President Coolidge, nominated as Republican candidate at the Cleveland convention. Details of the Coolidge acceptance plans will be announced later.

The Democrat-Forum, co-operating with Harry C. Todd of the Hanamo Telephone Co., will receive the Davis acceptance speech my radio Monday night. A more definite announcement of the hour and plans will be made in Monday's paper.

Outline of Big Issues.

The importance of these speeches lies in the fact they will outline, for the first time in the campaign, the policies of the two opposing candidates for the presidency.

Again stations will be linked together by long distance wires for broadcasting simultaneously, with WDAF on the "farthest west" end. Lines to be used are being installed now in the Star building by engineers of the Bell system from which they have been leased.

Mr. Davis's notification exercises will be at his home in Clarksburg, W. Va., and microphones will be so placed to catch all that may be heard when he formally accepts the nomination for the presidency.

Mr. Davis Monday Night.

The Democratic event is scheduled for Monday night, probably at 7 o'clock. The exact time has not yet been announced.

The Star's station will make arrangements to take the air fifteen minutes before time set for the grouped stations to switch over to Clarksburg. Graham McNamee, announcer for the two big conventions, again probably will officiate for the radio audience.

The exercises probably will not be long, but this will be the first time in the history of the nation that a speech of acceptance has been broadcast to millions.

List of Stations Later.

Final announcement has not been made as to which stations will do the broadcasting, although the radio stations of the Bell system as well as WDAF will be included. These are WCAF, Washington; WEAF, New York, and WJAR, Providence, R. I.

Nixson Lunch Receives Number Compliments

No Charge Whatever Is Made for Time and Service—Outstanding Feature of Trade Trip Here.

Probably the most outstanding feature of the St. Joseph trade trip to Maryville, yesterday afternoon was the picnic lunch served at the country club grounds by Walter and Willard Nixson, owners of the Linville and Balnum hotels. The lunch and service received a great many compliments, not only from the officials of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce but a number of the St. Joseph visitors as well.

The Nixson brothers gave about two days of their time in ordering and preparing the lunch. They provided the service yesterday afternoon, and the Chamber of Commerce was presented with a bill which covered only the cost of the food served, and no charges were made for time or service.

Ambassador To France Leaves for U. S. Today

Myron T. Herrick Indirectly Denies Report That He Contemplates Resigning—Kellogg To Paris.

Paris, Aug. 9.—Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France, departed for the United States today upon a two months' vacation.

Herrick indirectly denied a recent report that he contemplates resigning, by saying he expected to return before two months have elapsed.

Ambassador Herrick will not be in Paris for the allied financial conference in which the United States is keenly interested. It is anticipated that Frank C. Kellogg, the American ambassador to England, will head the American delegation to that city, a post which would belong to Herrick if he were here.

While in the United States, Herrick will make a report to President Coolidge upon European conditions.

MORE GIRL GRADUATES

Lead Both in Eighth Grades and High Schools—Many College-Trained Teachers in County

Boys and girls in Nodaway County are given advantage of a full eight-months term of school, and in twenty-eight schools in the county more than eight months instruction is offered, according to the annual report of Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools, made public today.

No schools in the county have less than an eight months term, according to Mr. Somerville's report to the state superintendent.

The average length of the school term in days is 175, the report shows. Forty-seven teachers in the county have life certificates, ten have five-year certificates, one has a three-year certificate, and five have one-year rights to teach.

The total amount paid out for teachers salaries during the year beginning July 1, 1923 and ending June 30, 1924, is $277,253.19. Of this amount, $210,120.94 was paid to women teachers and $67,132.25 to men instructors.

A total of $2,053.04 was paid out for supplies and other expenses of instruction, the report shows. It cost the citizens of Nodaway County $97,406.92 for the operation of school plants. This includes the wages of janitors and engineers, and the cost of fuel, water, light, power, janitors' supplies and other equipment.

The total current expenses during the school 1923-24 amounted to $383,498.37.

The payments for new grounds and buildings, alteration of old buildings and new equipment amounted to $20,337.18.

One hundred and twenty-one teachers in the county have had college training of more than two years. Two hundred and ninety-two teachers are employed in the schools of Nodaway County. The average salary of the men teachers is $123.22, and $97.73 for the women teachers.

One hundred and thirty-four school districts in the county have an assessed valuation of over $80,000.

The school enumeration shows a total of 7,300 white students and 19 colored students, making a grand total of 7,319 in the county.

One hundred and sixty-six students were graduated from high schools in the county during the last year. Of this number, seventy-four were boys and ninety-two were girls. A total of 419 students were graduated from the eighth grade in various schools in the county. Girls again were in the lead with 225. There were 194 boys completing the eighth grade course.

There are 134 school libraries in the county with a total of 62,442 volumes. The value of the libraries is estimated at $43,688.05.

Only twenty-six school districts in the county enrolled less than fifteen pupils; fifty-eight enrolled between fifteen and twenty-five; twenty eight enrolled between twenty-five and forty, three between forty and sixty, and nineteen more than sixty.

MORE THAN 1,500 AT CLOVER MEETS

SESSION AT ELMO IS MOST SUCCESSFUL.

FROM HERE TO ATCHISON

To Be In Stanberry and Albany Monday and Tuesday—Only About Fifty At Meeting Here.

More than 1500 persons attended Clover and Prosperity demonstrations in Nodaway County it was estimated this morning by R. A. Kinnaird. Three demonstrations were held in this county, at Conception, Maryville, and Elmo. Of these the one at Elmo was the most successful. The crowd numbered more than 1000 and the most extensive program of the three was given.

At Maryville the demonstration was well-nigh a failure. Not more than fifty persons were in attendance and the affair was hardly worth the expenditure of time and expense.

After leaving Nodaway County the Clover and Prosperity demonstration which is a project of the University of Missouri's College of Agriculture, went to Atchison County for two days. Monday and Tuesday they will be in Stanberry and Albany.

The feature of the affair at Elmo was the barbecue. Meat, packed in fireless cookers, was shipped to Elmo from the Armour Co., in Kansas City. Mr. Kinnaird said today that it took the crowd more than two hours to eat dinner.

In the essay contest Merlin James won first prize and Kenneth Livengood was second.

Music for the picnic was furnished by the Elmo orchestra. Large crowds attended the lectures given by the specialists from the University. Mrs. Edith Van Dusen gave her lecture on house decoration in the school building and the place was packed with women.

Following the program outlined by these in charge games were played and contests were held.

Mr. Kinnaird said today that between three and four hundred persons attended the celebration at Conception Monday, about fifty at Maryville Tuesday, and more than 1000 at Elmo Wednesday.

McDaniel Assured of Victory Over Lockwood

Has Lead of 444 Votes in Race for Nomination for Congressman—Only Ten Precincts Out

With ten of the 194 precincts unreported in the Fourth district congressional race, John McDaniel of Savannah is leading Bart M. Lockwood of St. Joseph for the Democratic nomination by 444 votes. McDaniel's victory is assured.

Seven precincts remain unreported in Platte county which gave McDaniel 1,178 to 692 for Lockwood. If McDaniel does as well in the remaining seven precincts, his lead over the St. Joseph attorney will be materially increased. Three precincts in Atchison county are still unreported. In Atchison county McDaniel received 527 and Lockwood 320.

The following is the result of the vote in the six counties in the districts:

	McDaniel	Lockwood

Barnard Picnic Has Been a Great Success

The thirtieth annual picnic at Barnard will close today and according to reports it has been a great success. The picnic at Barnard is really one of the biggest affairs held in Nodaway County.

At today's picnic, John McDaniel, the Democratic nominee for congress, and Charles L. Faust, the present congressman and also the nominee of the Republican party for re-election, are scheduled to be the speakers.

The crowd yesterday at the picnic was estimated at many thousands of people. That day was in charge of the farm organizations.

U. S. May Intervene In Honduras Revolution

Intimation of American Activity in Stamping Out Disorder is Evident in Governmental Circles

Washington, Aug. 9—Intimation that armed intervention will soon take place in Honduras to definitely stamp out the continuous series of revolutions that have practically wrecked the republic, was evident in government circles today.

With American and other foreign lives in danger, with millions of dollars of American export property destroyed, and with the country wrought in a struggle between three revolutionary leaders, none o. whom are recognized by the state department, this government sees little hope of local settlement.

"GIVE AND TAKE" PLEASES AUDIENCE

FOOD FOR THOUGHT IN PLAY LAST NIGHT.

PARTS PLAYED WELL

Musical Program and Lecture By Tom Skeyhill Features of the Program Tonight.

TONIGHT'S PROGRAM

8:30 o'clock—Lecture — "The Trojan Way"—Tom Skeyhill.

TOMORROW AFTERNOON

2:30 o'clock—Prelude—Russian Cathedral Quartet.

TOMORROW NIGHT

8 o'clock—Concert — Russian Cathedral Quartet.

If William Keighley has picked a better play for himself than he selected for the company which played at chautauqua last night, the performance of "Captain Applejack" Monday night will set laugh records that rise as rapidly as the temperature in the big tent. But the discomfort of the temperature is forgotten in the hilarity of a Keighley production, and it has been seldom indeed that a Maryville crowd has enjoyed itself as much as it did last night when "Give and Take" was presented.

"Industrial Democracy" is the talk of the town today, and gradually the idea is soaking in that there was food for thought as well as laughter in "Give and Take" and that under the guise of a comedy the playwright really "slipped one over" on his public.

Possibly it was superb acting but it seemed that each player had been chosen especially as the type for the part he played and there was a naturalness about the performance that marks the peak of professional acting. A number of those present remembered John C. Hickey, who appeared here several years ago with the Coburns, and one of whose last parts here was as one of the gravediggers in "Hamlet." Mr. Hickey had last night the part of Daniel Drum, banker, who was hard of hearing when one wanted an extension of a note, but keen of ear when something was coming his way.

It is likely that if the audience were voting on the characterizations that appealed most last night, the first choice would lie between Douglas Hope as "John Bauer" and Joseph Clancy as "Albert Krueger." Both were excellent; both had the big parts of the play and both were adepts in living their parts with every gesture and shading of intonation. The "John Bauer" part required the difficult dialect of a German-born business man who has been in America nearly all his life and consequently really knows the English language, but who slips into a bit of dialect in time of excitement. It is far easier for an actor to give a broad dialect than a more delicate one and Mr. Hope's performance last night was, therefore, more artistic. As the foreman of the canning factory, Mr. Clancy was excellent in mannerism and voice. His voice was that of the working man who does not make speeches, a bit husky and creaky from lack of use except in giving orders. He was a bit difficult too, but was fired with the idea that he was a Lincoln destined to free industrial slaves.

As the rather thick-headed, but well-meaning son whose college training had filed him with socialistic ideals, John Junior — the name doesn't sound real somehow — was good in the part of 'Jack Bauer"; and Pauline Generaux, as secretary to the boss and daughter of the foreman, played very acceptably. William Balfour, as Thomas Craig, made the most of the only minor part in the play.

The taking over of the canning factory by the employes, their election of a cabinet and Congress, and methods of work by the "industrial democrats" afforded opportunity for many clever jibes at the United States Congress which touched the risibilities of the audience, and judg-

Have No Intention of Abandoning Flight

Rear Admiral Thomas P. MacGruder, Commander of Light Cruiser Division, Makes Announcement

Reykjazik, Iceland, Aug. 9—Rear Admiral Thomas P. MacGruder, commander of the light cruiser division, declared today there was no immediate thought of calling off the around-the-world flight of Lieut. Lowell Smith and Lieut. Eric Nelson.

"We are ready to co-operate with the flyers until the call of time," the Read Admiral said, "We never had any intention of calling off the flight.

"There are three tentative plans as a result of yesterday's conference. First, wait until the Gertrude Rask as forged an inlet in the ice which seems improbable. Second, send the naval planes over the ice to establish a base and carry in fuel, and third, to establish an ocean base over Cape Farewell."

Cars Collide At Road Intersection

P. C. Yeary of Ravenwood Badly Cut In Smash At 6:30 o'Clock Last Night.

P. C. Yeary of Ravenwood was badly cut about the scalp, arms, and legs by particles of broken glass at 6:30 o'clock last night when Emmett F. Bishop's car, in which he was riding, collided with a Ford touring car belonging to James Woodburn of Maryville and driven by Mr. Woodburn's son, Morris. The collision occurred at the intersection of the Arkoe and Ravenwood roads.

Mrs. D. M. Bishop and Frank G. Bishop, both of Ravenwood, were slightly bruised by the collision.

Mr. Bishop, who was driving his car, a Buick with a winter top, was going to Ravenwood. Young Woodburn, who with his mother and four other persons, was returning to Maryville from the Barnard picnic, was just turning the corner where the two roads meet.

James Woodburn said this morning that his son was just completing the turn when the collision occurred. He said that Bishop's car was on the left side of the road.

After the cars met the Buick rolled on, hit a cement ditch covering and rolled into the ditch. It was badly damaged, the entire right side of the body being ruined and the glass in the sides and windshield broken.

No one else was seriously hurt although all sustained minor scratches and bruises.

With young Woodburn and his mother in the Ford were Mrs. J. A. Sparks, Mrs. James Croy and Dorothy and James, Jr., Woodburn.

The Ford was damaged to the extent of about $60.

Separate Conference To Discuss War Debts

Americans Promise To Take Part In Allied Financial Meeting—Off Day In Reparations Conference.

London, Aug. 9.—Possibility of a separate conference in Paris to discuss allied war debts without representation from the United States, appeared likely today.

American observers at the reparations parley refused to take part in any such discussion.

It is proposed that the separate conference be simultaneous with the allied financial meeting. The Americans have promised to take part in the latter session.

This is an off day in the reparations conference. Committees two and three, dealing with economic evacuation of the Ruhr and transfers of reparations, are meeting and are hopeful of finishing their work before night.

THE TURN OF FORTUNE.

Anne Nichols, author of "Abie's Irish Rose," is the outstanding character in New York theatrical circles just now. She is a much discussed character because her play, which most all of the critics pronounced "the worst of the year," has made a millionaire out of an unknown actress.

It is the old story of some talent and lots of courage and determination. Anne ran away from a girl's school when she was 16, determined to have a stage career. She became a chorus girl, finally got a part in a play, tried movies, then vaudeville, and, with some success as an actress, undertook to write plays with indifferent success. She got the story of a Jewish lad and an Irish Catholic girl who fell in love and were married with the natural difficulties that would ordinarily follow such a union. She built around the story what she believed was a winning play but no theatre would put it on. Three years of effort went unrewarded. Finally she got it on in Los Angeles by guaranteeing the producer against all loss out of her own limited funds. It ran forty four weeks but she was still unable to get it on in New York. Finally, in desperation, she organized a company of her own, drilled them and rented a vacant theatre on her own account. The critics and theatrical experts knocked it and her money ran out. She asked her lawyer to help her and got a loan but he advised that it would be better to pocket her loss and go back to the stage. Finally, out of sympathy and not with any confidence in its success, he secured a loan for her and before that was all gone the tide turned. The people began to take an interest in spite of what the critics thought.

"Abie's Irish Rose" has been running in New York now two years and has taken its place alongside "Lightnin'," "Peg O' My Heart," "The Old Homestead' and a number of others as money makers. Miss Nichols has pocketed a million dollars and the play bids fair to run on other millions. It has struck a tender spot in the hearts of theatre goers and she is a much talked of lady and everybody wants to know all about her.

Of course the difficulties of the story are all ironed out by the arival of little Patrick Joseph and little Rachel Rebecca. The heart of the play seems to be in a supposed conversation between a priest and a rabbi who are talking over their adventures in France during the war.

"We didn't have much time to think of any one religion on the battlefields," the rabbi says.

"Sure, they all had the same God above them," replies the priest, "and what with all the shells bursting, and the shrapnel flying, with no one knowing just what momen t death would come, Catholics, Hebrews, and Protestants alike forgot their prejudices and came to realize that all faiths and creeds have about the same destination after all."

The question has been asked "how many nuts does it take to make a bolt?" politically speaking.

Running on a wet platform, Judge Priest got two votes in Mercer County, four in Clinton and five in Hickory. City politicians can learn a lot about what the country voters thinks of prohibition by running for a state office on a wet platform.

While a great many defeated candidates were booking passage for a trip up Salt River, Judge Priest slipped off and sailed for Europe. The trip will be more satisfactory perhaps, and it indicates that he was not surprised at the results.

Both presidential candidates will soon be notified of their nomination. Somebody ought to slip them a tip so they will be able to make a few remarks after the news is broken. It is hard to collect one's thoughts immediately after a great surprise.

Americans are wondering why Japan is buying so much war material and Japan is very likely wondering why this country wants to mobilize all its war forces in September. The probabilities are that neither one means anything out of the ordinary but such things give the jingoes a chance to do a lot of commenting and to keep up suspicion and agitation.

CHARGE BROTHERS BURNED FATHER ALIVE.

John and Louis Brandt, brothers, have been arrested at Crivitz, Wis., on the charge that they burned their father alive. The elder Brandt was cremated in his barn in 1921, and the death was supposed to have been accidental. However, after three years of investigation, the authorities allege they have sufficient evidence to convict the youths of murder.

NELSON, THE MAN

Arthur Nelson is still a man in the prime of his physical powers and in the zenith of his admittedly superior intellectual capacities. He was born on a farm and he still lives on the farm where he was born. He is only forty-six years old. When he had finished school he studied to become a physician. He made a good one, those who remember back twenty-three years ago and knew young Dr. Nelson, assert. Then he completed a post-graduate course in medicine and surgery in New York. This was in 1901.: Since that time the interests of his inherited acres have caused him to drop active practice of his profession.

The lure of the land was strong upon him. The call of the soil was beyond any resistance he might have felt. He added to the plow and his sowing and reaping the art of stock raising and became one of the foremost of Missouri's breeders of blooded cattle, horses and swine. During the late war, he was a member of the Federal Live Stock Committee which functioned to insure an adequate supply of meats for our soldiers in camp and field. In the same period he was also the agricultural advisor of the District Draft Board and chairman of the Cooper County Council of Defense. At the present time he is president of the Missouri Live Stock Association.

That's some record as a farmer and stock breeder. Arthur Nelson is not only a breeder, but he is a successful one. Lots of farmers are not successful. Nelson has brains. His life record proves it. His personal character is beyond criticism. It never has been attacked, even by insinuation, in a campaign which has not lacked certain aspects of bitterness.

Every man who knows Nelson is both his friend and admirer. He is firm of purpose. He is resolute to uphold the right.

Dr. Nelson is from a long line of Democrats, his ancestors being Virginians and Kentuckians. With his interesting family, his widowed mother included, he is an Episcopalian. He is very democratic, has the Southern hospitality, and withal is a strong character, making for success not only as a farmer and stockman, but is chairman of the board of directors of the Boonville National Bank, and a director in the Bank of Bunceton, yet he lives on his farm sixteen miles from Boonville and seven miles from Bunceton. The editor of The Daily Argus has known Arthur Nelson since he was a youth.

His nomination with such a wonderful majority shows his strength with the people—that the masses believe in him. As a rule, the politicians were for the "other fellow."

If Dr. Nelson becomes governor he will enforce every law which can be enforced. He will live up to the full demands of his oath of office. He will serve the people. He is deeply imbued with the spirit of constitutionalism. He will stand firm and upright for that wonderful motto which is upon the great seal of the state of Missouri, "Salus populi suprema lex esto."

Many republicans will vote for Nelson, the man, not the Democrat. The farms of the state are full of Nelson votes without regard to politics. Nelson as governor will be safe, sane, sound, progressive.—Brookfield Argus.

Of this total, 1,184 miles have been surfaced at a cost of $20,039,181, while 1,480 miles have been graded at a cost of $11,274,125.

Besides the 15 per cent of the total system surfaced, the 1,480 miles graded preparatory to surfacing, constitutes 23 per cent of the remainder, it was said.

Summary of Projects.

A summary of the road projects completed showed there has been a total of 1,711 miles finished at a total estimated cost of $17,808,138.83. Of this amount, 829 miles were surfaced at a cost of $12,090,167.55, while 882 miles were graded at a cost of $5,182,101.63. Besides this there was $535,869.64 of bridge construction included in the completed projects.

It was shown by a summary of the projects under contract that a total of 1,760 miles has been contracted at a total cost of $30,709,445.66. This includes $4,372,493.61 bridge work. Of the total mileage under contract, 848 miles is for surfacing at an estimated cost of $16,846,765.62, while 910 miles is grading, to cost $9,490,186.43.

Projects Total 3,480 Miles.

The summaries revealed that the projects completed and the projects under contract total 3,480 miles, to cost $48,517,584.48 in all.

It was explained the work done includes all mileage on completed projects and completed mileage on uncompleted projects—for example, hard surface over graded earth—the actual mileage of roads is less than the project mileage, according to the engineers. All graded earth roads will be hard surfaced later, it was explained.

Fifty Years Ago

(Taken from the Nodaway Democrat, August 7, 1874.)

Hon C. H. Hardin of Audrain County, a prominent candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, was in the city yesterday.

On Tuesday we made a tour of observation through the Maryville steam mill, and was glad to see that Mr. Olwell has everything in the nicest trim, and turning out some of the nicest flour we ever saw. We have been using the flour for some time and it has been giving satisfaction.

Joe Cooper has a brick moulder at his yard who made 420 in fourteen minutes. He challenges the county to beat it.

The express companies have raised "Cain" with the business of quite a number of the merchants of Maryville. There is now no express cars running over the road and unless the quarrel be tween the railroad and the express companies shall come to an end speedily, the probability is that Tom Collins will be requested to extend his hack line to St. Joseph as well as Albany.

By notice elsewhere it will be seen that the firm of Myers & Smith, jewelers, has dissolved, and that W. H. H. Myers will continue the business at the old stand.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

A meeting was held at the court house Monday night, at which Ben Litts presided and J. C. Johnson was secretary. The general sentiment was favorable to a street fair, and President Litts appointed the following committee to solicit subscriptions: Mayor Romasser, J. C. Johnson, C. J. Alderman, W. H. Totterdale, John McCoy, Henry Westfall.

Miss Carrie Watkins and Bert Clark were united in marriage at the bride's home in Kansas City, Wednesday, Aug. 10. Mr. and Mrs. Clark came to Maryville Wednesday night and will make their home here. Mr. Clark is the popular clerk at the Linville, where he has been employed for years.

Richard Conway has opened a shoe shop, west of Denham's Harness store.

Dr. H. E. Robinson left for Boston to attend the National G. A. R. meeting.

The 14th annual convention of the Christian churches of the Nodaway Valley district will be held at Maryville, Aug. 30 to Sept. 1. The district comprises the counties of Atchison, Holt, Andrew, Nodaway, Gentry and Worth.

Many of the farmers say the prospects for corn are the poorest this year they have ever seen in the county. Old corn is worth from 55 to 60 cents per bushel.

James B. Robinson, the banker, is at work on the foundation for an elegant new $15,000 residence on West Third street.

ST. JOE VISITORS LIKED MARYVILLE

RUN INTO HEAVY RAIN ON LAST LAP OF JOURNEY

C. OF C. IS PRAISED

Roads All Way in Excellent Condition—Detours Are Well Dragged—Large Crowds Attracted

(St. Joseph Gazette)

Although rain was encountered on the last stage of the second sociability run of the Booster Club of the Chamber of Commerce, the first part of the tour was declared to be even more successful than the first trip which was made into northeastern Kansas towns about a month ago.

This time the sociability run extended into northwest Missouri and each place where the caravan stopped the townspeople were out in full force to welcome the St. Joseph boosters.

Headed by the Hugh McNutt band the caravan of twenty-five motor cars and approximately 100 men with several women, left Smith park at 8:30 o'clock. A slight delay in starting and two detours because of road construction made the party about an hour late at Maryville, where luncheon was served by the Maryville Chamber of Commerce at the Country club. The luncheon was served barbecue style in a grove just south of the new clubhouse, which is under construction. Plenty of good things to eat were supplied and the Maryville commercial organization was highly praised for their welcome.

Visited Barnard Picnic

The annual Barnard three-day picnic was visited by the St. Joseph boosters and here as elsewhere along the route a cordial welcome was extended by the Barnard business men. With approximately 5,000 persons on the ground the place was turned over to the St. Joseph crowd and the band aided by Gus Prinz and Asa Marker entertained the picnickers for thirty minutes. The Barnard band was dismissed for the time being and Hugh McNutt and his band were given the right of way. It was the second day of the picnic and was designated as the Missouri Farm association was in charge. Nick Smith of Columbia, purchasing agent for the association, made the principal address of the afternoon. Congress man Charles L. Faust of St. Joseph and John McDaniel of Savannah, Republican and Democratic candidates respectfully for the seat in the national house of representatives the next two years, will speak today.

Threatening clouds in the south east caused the "trippers" to pass up Bolckow and Rosendale and to make all haste in reaching Savannah before the rain began. They were practically successful in this, as the sprinkle started when the cars were about a mile from Savannah. The heavy rain between Savannah and St. Joseph caused several to abandon the trip by motor car and they made the journey to St. Joseph on the interurban. Others equipped theirs cars with chains and pulled through the mud.

Roads in Excellent Condition

The roads were excellent all the way from St. Joseph to Maryville and back to Savannah, including the detours, which were well dragged.

The first stop was made at Rochester, where a concert was given. At Union Star a welcome was extended the St. Joseph visitors by the Rev. J. H. Keplinger, pastor of the First Christian church. Harry E. McPherson, who, with Marion E. Cox, president of the Booster club, managed the tour, introduced William R. Hudspeth, assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce who responded to the Rev. Mr. Keplinger.

The next stop was at King City, where a parade and band concert were held. Judge J. W. Sullinger welcomed the visitors. From King City north a detour of six miles by way of Ford City was necessary because of road conditions between King City and Conception. Short stops were made at Conception and Ravenwood, where brief band concerts were held.

At Maryville, following the luncheon, a band concert was held in the courthouse yard and a welcome address was made by J. R. Lowry, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce. R. M. Duncan, St. Joseph attorney, who was unable to start with the caravant and made the trip to Maryville by train, spoke for the St. Joseph crowd.

Everywhere the visitors stopped they attracted large crowds with their white hats, canes, cow bells and other noise makers. Gus Prinz with his Ford locomotive and the minature cottage of the South Park Lumber Company, mounted on a Ford chassis, were the cause of much comment from the people in the towns visited.

C. H. Cousins of the Cousins Lumber company, with press representatives and Harry Smith of the South Park Lumber company, went ahead of the caravan and marked the route between towns. All turns were indicated by paper streamers.

Car No. 2, carrying several members of the band, skidded into a ditch between Savannah and St. Joseph on the last lap and was unable to proceed farther. All other cars that attempted the trip through the mud were successful, according to reports.

Protests Against New Immigration Measure

Germany Objects to Provision Which Makes Master of Vessels Liable for All Fines

Washington, Aug. 9—The German government today protested to the United States against the provisions of the new immigration law which makes masters of vessels liable for fines in case of alien seamen coming ashore in this country without specific authority from immigration agents at ports of entry.

The fine in such cases is $1,000 for each seaman and the immigration bureau has authority under the law to detain any vessel until the fines are paid.

"GIVE AND TAKE"

ing from the roars last night the average American has lost some of his respect for Congress the past two or three years.

It would be impossible to pick out the high points of laughter, for the entire play was a roar from start to finish. The scene changing was almost instaneaneous, as all scenes were laid in the same place. In fact the play and players were so splendidly adapted for the chautauqua that, to go back to the beginning, "Captain Applejack," with Keighley in person, "has a hard row to hoe" to excel it.

The prelude for tonight's program will be given by the Irene Stolofsky company. Miss Stolofsky is a violinist of merit and has with her two other artists, Miss Massman, pianist, and Mr. Bloom, a tenor singer.

Tom Skeyhill, who speaks on "The Trojan Way" tonight, is a soldier poet, writer and lecturer. He fought against the Turks at the Dardenelles and was sent home to Australia stone-blind from a shell explosion but in 1918 he came to the United States and miraculously recovered his sight after being blind for two years.

The program for tomorrow afternoon's program will be given by the Russian Cathedral quartet.

The lecture for the afternoon "Women in Politics" will be given by Mrs. Anna Dickie Olesen. Mrs. Olesen is the first woman ever nominated by one of the major political parties for United States senate as she was named by the Minnesota Democrats in 1922.

DAVIS ACCEPTANCE SPEECH BY RADIO

WILL BE BROADCAST BY NUMBER OF STATIONS.

TO BE RECEIVED HERE

Democrat-Forum, Co-Operating With Harry C. Todd of Hanamo Telephone Co., Will Receive Address.

Radio's cup of big acts was not quite filled to overflowing with the recent broadcasting of the two national political conventions. For Monday night the Kansas City Star's station, WDAF, in conjunction with other large broadcasters of the country, will bring to the people of the West the ceremony on the occasion of the formal notification of John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for President of the United States.

The Star will broadcast also the acceptance speech of President Coolidge, nominated as Republican candidate at the Cleveland convention. Details of the Coolidge acceptance plans will be announced later.

The Democrat-Forum, co-operating with Harry C. Todd of the Hanamo Telephone Co., will receive the Davis acceptance speech my radio Monday night. A more definite announcement of the hour and plans will be made in Monday's paper.

Outline of Big Issues.

The importance of these speeches lies in the fact they will outline, for the first time in the campaign, the policies of the two opposing candidates for the presidency.

Again stations will be linked together by long distance wires for broadcasting simultaneously, with WDAF on the "farthest west" end. Lines to be used are being installed now in the Star building by engineers of the Bell system from which they have been leased.

Mr. Davis's notification exercises will be at his home in Clarksburg, W. Va., and microphones will be so placed to catch all that may be heard when he formally accepts the nomination for the presidency.

Mr. Davis Monday Night.

The Democratic event is scheduled for Monday night, probably at 7 o'clock. The exact time has not yet been announced.

The Star's station will make arrangements to take the air fifteen minutes before time set for the grouped stations to switch over to Clarksburg. Graham McNamee, announcer for the two big conventions, again probably will officiate for the radio audience.

The exercises probably will not be long, but this will be the first time in the history of the nation that a speech of acceptance has been broadcast to millions.

List of Stations Later.

Final announcement has not been made as to which stations will do the broadcasting, although the radio stations of the Bell system as well as WDAF will be included. These are WCAF, Washington; WEAF, New York, and WJAR, Providence, R. I.

Nixson Lunch Receives Number Compliments

No Charge Whatever Is Made for Time and Service—Outstanding Feature of Trade Trip Here.

Probably the most outstanding feature of the St. Joseph trade trip to Maryville, yesterday afternoon was the picnic lunch served at the country club grounds by Walter and Willard Nixson, owners of the Linville and Bainum hotels. The lunch and service received a great many compliments, not only from the officials of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce but a number of the St. Joseph visitors as well.

The Nixson brothers gave about two days of their time in ordering and preparing the lunch. They provided the service yesterday afternoon, and the Chamber of Commerce was presented with a bill which covered only the cost of the food served, and no charges were made for time or service.

Ambassador To France Leaves for U. S. Today

Myron T. Herrick Indirectly Denies Report That He Contemplates Resigning—Kellogg To Paris.

Paris, Aug. 9.—Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France, departed for the United States today upon a two months' vacation.

Herrick indirectly denied a recent report that he contemplates resigning, by saying he expected to return before two months have elapsed.

Ambassador Herrick will not be in Paris for the allied financial conference in which the United States is keenly interested. It is anticipated that Frank C. Kellogg, the American ambassador to England, will head the American delegation to that city, a post which would belong to Herrick if he were here.

While in the United States, Herrick will make a report to President Coolidge upon European conditions.

GOOD CHANCE FOR ATTENDING SCHOOL

MORE GIRL GRADUATES

Lead Both in Eighth Grades and High Schools—Many College-Trained Teachers in County

Boys and girls in Nodaway County are given advantage of a full eight-months term of school, and in twenty-eight schools in the county more than eight months instruction is offered, according to the annual report of Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools, made public today.

No schools in the county have less than an eight months term, according to Mr. Somerville's report to the state superintendent.

The average length of the school term in days is 175, the report shows. Forty-seven teachers in the county have life certificates, ten have five-year certificates, one has a three-year certificate, and five have one-year rights to teach.

The total amount paid out for teachers salaries during the year beginning July 1, 1923 and ending June 30, 1924, is $277,253.19. Of this amount, $210,120.94 was paid to women teachers and $67,132.25 to men instructors.

A total of $2,053.04 was paid out for supplies and other expenses of instruction, the report shows. It cost the citizens of Nodaway County $97,406.92 for the operation of school plants. This includes the wages of janitors and engineers, and the cost of fuel, water, light, power, janitors' supplies and other equipment.

The total current expenses during the school 1923-24 amounted to $383,498.37.

One hundred and thirty-four school districts in the county have an assessed valuation of over $80,000.

The school enumeration shows a total of 7,300 white students and 19 colored students, making a grand total of 7,319 in the county.

MORE THAN 1,500 AT CLOVER MEETS

SESSION AT ELMO IS MOST SUCCESSFUL.

FROM HERE TO ATCHISON

To Be In Stanberry and Albany Monday and Tuesday—Only About Fifty At Meeting Here.

More than 1500 persons attended Clover and Prosperity demonstrations in Nodaway County it was estimated this morning by R. A. Kinnaird. Three demonstrations were held in this county, at Conception, Maryville, and Elmo. Of these the one at Elmo was the most successful. The crowd numbered more than 1000 and the most extensive program of the three was given.

At Maryville the demonstration was well-nigh a failure. Not more than fifty persons were in attendance and the affair was hardly worth the expenditure of time and expense.

After leaving Nodaway County the Clover and Prosperity demonstration which is a project of the University of Missouri's College of Agriculture, went to Atchison County for two days. Monday and Tuesday they will be in Stanberry and Albany.

The feature of the affair at Elmo was the barbecue. Meat, packed in fireless cookers, was shipped to Elmo from the Armour Co., in Kansas City. Mr. Kinnaird said today that it took the crowd more than two hours to eat dinner.

In the essay contest Merlin James won first prize and Kenneth Livengood was second.

Music for the picnic was furnished by the Elmo orchestra. Large crowds attended the lectures given by the specialists from the University. Mrs. Edith Van Dusen gave her lecture on house decoration in the school building and the place was packed with women.

Following the program outlined by these in charge games were played and contests were held.

Mr. Kinnaird said today that between three and four hundred persons attended the celebration at Conception Monday, about fifty at Maryville Tuesday, and more than 1000 at Elmo Wednesday.

McDaniel Assured of Victory Over Lockwood

Has Lead of 444 Votes in Race for Nomination for Congressman—Only Ten Precincts Out

If McDaniel does as well in the remaining seven precincts, his lead over the St. Joseph attorney will be materially increased. Three precincts in Atchison county are still unreported. In Atchison county McDaniel received 527 and Lockwood 320.

The following is the result of the vote in the six counties in the districts:

The crowd yesterday at the picnic was estimated at many thousands of people. That day was in charge of the farm organizations.

U. S. May Intervene In Honduras Revolution

Intimation of American Activity in Stamping Out Disorder is Evident in Governmental Circles

Washington, Aug. 9—Intimation that armed intervention will soon take place in Honduras to definitely stamp out the continuous series of revolutions that have practically wrecked the republic, was evident in government circles today.

With American and other foreign lives in danger, with millions of dollars of American export property destroyed, and with the country wrought in a struggle between three revolutionary leaders, none of whom are recognized by the state department, this government sees little hope of local settlement.

"GIVE AND TAKE" PLEASES AUDIENCE

FOOD FOR THOUGHT IN PLAY LAST NIGHT.

PARTS PLAYED WELL

Musical Program and Lecture By Tom Skeyhill Features of the Program Tonight.

TONIGHT'S PROGRAM

8:00 o'clock—Concert Prelude Irene Stolofsky Company.

8:30 o'clock—Lecture — "The Trojan Way"—Tom Skeyhill.

TOMORROW AFTERNOON

2:30 o'clock—Prelude—Russian Cathedral Quartet.

3 o'clock—Lecture — Women In Politics"—Anna Dickie Olesen.

TOMORROW NIGHT

8 o'clock—Concert — Russian Cathedral Quartet.

If William Keighley has picked a better play for himself than he selected for the company which played at chautauqua last night, the performance of "Captain Applejack" Monday night will set laugh records that rise as rapidly as the temperature in the big tent. But the discomfort of the temperature is forgotten in the hilarity of a Keighley production, and it has been seldom indeed that a Maryville crowd has enjoyed itself as much as it did last night when "Give and Take" was presented.

"Industrial Democracy" is the talk of the town today, and gradually the idea is soaking in that there was food for thought as well as laughter in "Give and Take" and that under the guise of a comedy the playwright really "slipped one over" on his public.

Possibly it was superb acting but it seemed that each player had been chosen especially as the type for the part he played and there was a naturalness about the performance that marks the peak of professional acting. A number of those present remembered John C. Hickey, who appeared here several years ago with the Coburns, and one of whose last parts here was as one of the gravediggers in "Hamlet." Mr. Hickey had last night the part of Daniel Drum, banker, who was hard of hearing when one wanted an extension of a note, but keen of ear when something was coming his way.

It is likely that if the audience were voting on the characterizations that appealed most last night, the first choice would lie between Douglas Hope as "John Bauer" and Joseph Clancy as "Albert Krueger." Both were excellent; both had the big parts of the play and both were adepts in living their parts with every gesture and shading of intonation. The "John Bauer" part required the difficult dialect of a German-born business man who has been in America nearly all his life and consequently really knows the English language, but who slips into a bit of dialect in time of excitement. It is far easier for an actor to give a broad dialect than a more delicate one and Mr. Hope's performance last night was, therefore, more artistic. As the foreman of the canning factory, Mr. Clancy was excellent in mannerism and voice. His voice was that of the working man who does not make speeches, a bit husky and creaky from lack of use except in giving orders. He was a bit difficult too, but was fired with the idea that he was a Lincoln destined to free industrial slaves.

As the rather thick-headed, but well-meaning son whose college training had filed him with socialistic ideals, John Junior — the name doesn't sound real somehow — was good in the part of 'Jack Bauer"; and Pauline Generaux, as secretary to the boss and daughter of the foreman, played very acceptably. William Balfour, as Thomas Craig, made the most of the only minor part in the play.

The taking over of the canning factory by the employes, their election of a cabinet and Congress, and methods of work by the "industrial democrats" afforded opportunity for many clever jibes at the United States Congress which touched the risibilities of the audience, and judg-

Have No Intention of Abandoning Flight

Rear Admiral Thomas P. MacGruder, Commander of Light Cruiser Division, Makes Announcement

Reykjazik, Iceland, Aug. 9—Rear Admiral Thomas P. MacGruder, commander of the light cruiser division, declared today there was no immediate thought of calling off the around-the-world flight of Lieut. Lowell Smith and Lieut. Eric Nelson.

"We are ready to co-operate with the flyers until the call of time," the Read Admiral said, "We never had any intention of calling off the flight.

"There are three tentative plans as a result of yesterday's conference. First, wait until the Gertrude Rask as forged an inlet in the ice which seems improbable. Second, send the naval planes over the ice to establish a base and carry in fuel, and third, to establish an ocean base over Cape Farewell."

Cars Collide At Road Intersection

P. C. Yeary of Ravenwood Badly Cut In Smash At 6:30 o'Clock Last Night.

P. C. Yeary of Ravenwood was badly cut about the scalp, arms, and legs by particles of broken glass at 6:30 o'clock last night when Emmett F. Bishop's car, in which he was riding, collided with a Ford touring car belonging to James Woodburn of Maryville and driven by Mr. Woodburn's son, Morris. The collision occurred at the intersection of the Arkoe and Ravenwood roads.

Mrs. D. M. Bishop and Frank G. Bishop, both of Ravenwood, were slightly bruised by the collision.

Mr. Bishop, who was driving his car, a Buick with a winter top, was going to Ravenwood. Young Woodburn, who with his mother and four other persons, was returning to Maryville from the Barnard picnic, was just turning the corner where the two roads meet.

James Woodburn said this morning that his son was just completing the turn when the collision occurred. He said that Bishop's car was on the left side of the road.

After the cars met the Buick rolled on, hit a cement ditch covering and rolled into the ditch. It was badly damaged, the entire right side of the body being ruined and the glass in the sides and windshield broken.

No one else was seriously hurt although all sustained minor scratches and bruises.

With young Woodburn and his mother in the Ford were Mrs. J. A. Sparks, Mrs. James Croy and Dorothy and James, Jr., Woodburn.

The Ford was damaged to the extent of about $60.

He plans to remain in Clarksburg until 6:30 this evening when he will motor twenty miles to Fairmont, home of Clement L. Shaver, chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Separate Conference To Discuss War Debts

Americans Promise To Take Part In Allied Financial Meeting—Off Day In Reparations Conference.

London, Aug. 9.—Possibility of a separate conference in Paris to discuss allied war debts without representation from the United States, appeared likely today.

American observers at the reparations parley refused to take part in any such discussion.

It is proposed that the separate conference be simultaneous with the allied financial meeting. The Americans have promised to take part in the latter session.

This is an off day in the reparations conference. Committees two and three, dealing with economic evacuation of the Ruhr and transfers of reparations, are meeting and are hopeful of finishing their work before night.

THE TURN OF FORTUNE.

Anne Nichols, author of "Abie's Irish Rose," is the outstanding character in New York theatrical circles just now. She is a much discussed character because her play, which most all of the critics pronounced "the worst of the year," has made a millionaire out of an unknown actress.

It is the old story of some talent and lots of courage and determination. Anne ran away from a girl's school when she was 16, determined to have a stage career. She became a chorus girl, finally got a part in a play, tried movies, then vaudeville, and, with some success as an actress, undertook to write plays with indifferent success. She got the story of a Jewish lad and an Irish Catholic girl who fell in love and were married with the natural difficulties that would ordinarily follow such a union. She built around the story what she believed was a winning play but no theatre would put it on. Three years of effort went unrewarded. Finally she got it on in Los Angeles by guaranteeing the producer against all loss out of her own limited funds. It ran forty four weeks but she was still unable to get it on in New York. Finally, in desperation, she organized a company of her own, drilled them and rented a vacant theatre on her own account. The critics and theatrical experts knocked it and her money ran out. She asked her lawyer to help her and got a loan but he advised that it would be better to pocket her loss and go back to the stage. Finally, out of sympathy and not with any confidence in its success, he secured a loan for her and before that was all gone the tide turned. The people began to take an interest in spite of what the critics thought.

"Abie's Irish Rose" has been running in New York now two years and has taken its place alongside "Lightnin'," "Peg O' My Heart," "The Old Homestead' and a number of others as money makers. Miss Nichols has pocketed a million dollars and the play bids fair to run on other millions. It has struck a tender spot in the hearts of theatre goers and she is a much talked of lady and everybody wants to know all about her.

Of course the difficulties of the story are all ironed out by the arival of little Patrick Joseph and little Rachel Rebecca. The heart of the play seems to be in a supposed conversation between a priest and a rabbi who are talking over their adventures in France during the war.

"We didn't have much time to think of any one religion on the battlefields," the rabbi says.

"Sure, they all had the same God above them," replies the priest, "and what with all the shells bursting, and the shrapnel flying, with no one knowing just what momen t death would come, Catholics, Hebrews, and Protestants alike forgot their prejudices and came to realize that all faiths and creeds have about the same destination after all."

The question has been asked "how many nuts does it take to make a bolt?" politically speaking.

Running on a wet platform, Judge Priest got two votes in Mercer County, four in Clinton and five in Hickory. City politicians can learn a lot about what the country voters thinks of prohibition by running for a state office on a wet platform.

While a great many defeated candidates were booking passage for a trip up Salt River, Judge Priest slipped off and sailed for Europe. The trip will be more satisfactory perhaps, and it indicates that he was not surprised at the results.

Both presidential candidates will soon be notified of their nomination. Somebody ought to slip them a tip so they will be able to make a few remarks after the news is broken. It is hard to collect one's thoughts immediately after a great surprise.

CHARGE BROTHERS BURNED FATHER ALIVE.

John and Louis Brandt, brothers, have been arrested at Crivitz, Wis., on the charge that they burned their father alive. The elder Brandt was cremated in his barn in 1921, and the death was supposed to have been accidental. However, after three years of investigation, the authorities allege they have sufficient evidence to convict the youths of murder.

why this country wants to mobilize all its war forces in September. The probabilities are that neither one means anything out of the ordinary but such things give the jingoes a chance to do a lot of commenting and to keep up suspicion and agitation.

NELSON, THE MAN

Arthur Nelson is still a man in the prime of his physical powers and in the zenith of his admittedly superior intellectual capacities. He was born on a farm and he still lives on the farm where he was born. He is only forty-six years old. When he had finished school he studied to become a physician. He made a good one, those who remember back twenty-three years ago and knew young Dr. Nelson, assert. Then he completed a post-graduate course in medicine and surgery in New York. This was in 1901.: Since that time the interests of his inherited acres have caused him to drop active practice of his profession.

The lure of the land was strong upon him. The call of the soil was beyond any resistance he might have felt. He added to the plow and his sowing and reaping the art of stock raising and became one of the foremost of Missouri's breeders of blooded cattle, horses and swine. During the late war, he was a member of the Federal Live Stock Committee which functioned to insure an adequate supply of meats for our soldiers in camp and field. In the same period he was also the agricultural advisor of the District Draft Board and chairman of the Cooper County Council of Defense. At the present time he is president of the Missouri Live Stock Association.

That's some record as a farmer and stock breeder. Arthur Nelson is not only a breeder, but he is a successful one. Lots of farmers are not successful. Nelson has brains. His life record proves it. His personal character is beyond criticism. It never has been attacked, even by insinuation, in a campaign which has not lacked certain aspects of bitterness.

Every man who knows Nelson is both his friend and admirer. He is firm of purpose. He is resolute to uphold the right.

Dr. Nelson is from a long line of Democrats, his ancestors being Virginians and Kentuckians. With his interesting family, his widowed mother included, he is an Episcopalian. He is very democratic, has the Southern hospitality, and withal is a strong character, making for success not only as a farmer and stockman, but is chairman of the board of directors of the Boonville National Bank, and a director in the Bank of Bunceton, yet he lives on his farm sixteen miles from Boonville and seven miles from Bunceton. The editor of The Daily Argus has known Arthur Nelson since he was a youth.

His nomination with such a wonderful majority shows his strength with the people—that the masses believe in him. As a rule, the politicians were for the "other fellow."

If Dr. Nelson becomes governor he will enforce every law which can be enforced. He will live up to the full demands of his oath of office. He will serve the people. He is deeply imbued with the spirit of constitutionalism. He will stand firm and upright for that wonderful motto which is upon the great seal of the state of Missouri, "Salus populi suprema lex esto."

Many republicans will vote for Nelson, the man, not the Democrat. The farms of the state are full of Nelson votes without regard to politics. Nelson as governor will be safe, sane, sound, progressive.—Brookfield Argus.

There also has been $1,551,071 of bridge construction completed, it was shown by reports.

A total of $32,864,377 has been spent on the construction work that has been done, including the $1,551,071 of bridge construction according to the records.

Summary of Projects.

A summary of the road projects completed showed there has been a total of 1,711 miles finished at a total estimated cost of $17,808,138.83. Of this amount, 829 miles were surfaced at a cost of $12,090,167.55, while 882 miles were graded at a cost of $5,182,-101.63. Besides this there was $535,-869.64 of bridge construction included in the completed projects.

It was shown by a summary of the projects under contract that a total of 1,760 miles has been contracted at a total cost of $30,709,445.66. This includes $4,372,493.61 bridge work. All graded earth roads will be hard surfaced later, it was explained.

Fifty Years Ago

(Taken from the Nodaway Democrat, August 7, 1874.)

Hon C. H. Hardin of Audrain County, a prominent candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, was in the city yesterday.

On Tuesday we made a tour of observation through the Maryville steam mill, and was glad to see that Mr. Olwell has everything in the nicest trim, and turning out some of the nicest flour we ever saw. We have been using the flour for some time and it has been giving satisfaction.

Joe Cooper has a brick moulder at his yard who made 420 in fourteen minutes. He challenges the county to beat it.

The express companies have raised "Cain" with the business of quite a number of the merchants of Maryville. There is now no express cars running over the road and unless the quarrel be tween the railroad and the express companies shall come to an end speedily, the probability is that Tom Collins will be requested to extend his hack line to St. Joseph as well as Albany.

By notice elsewhere it will be seen that the firm of Myers & Smith, jewelers, has dissolved, and that W. H. H. Myers will continue the business at the old stand.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

A meeting was held at the court house Monday night, at which Ben Litts presided and J. C. Johnson was secretary. The general sentiment was favorable to a street fair, and President Litts appointed the following committee to solicit subscriptions: Mayor Romasser, J. C. Johnson, C. J. Alderman, W. H. Totterdale, John McCoy, Henry Westfall.

Miss Carrie Watkins and Bert Clark were united in marriage at the bride's home in Kansas City, Wednesday, Aug. 10. Mr. and Mrs. Clark came to Maryville Wednesday night and will make their home here. Mr. Clark is the popular clerk at the Linville, where he has been employed for years.

Richard Conway has opened a shoe shop, west of Denham's Harness store.

Dr. H. E. Robinson left for Boston to attend the National G. A. R. meeting.

The 14th annual convention of the Christian churches of the Nodaway Valley district will be held at Maryville, Aug. 30 to Sept. 1. The district comprises the counties of Atchison, Holt, Andrew, Nodaway, Gentry and Worth.

Burlington Junction is to have the second annual horse show, Sept. 21, 22 and 23. The following are appointed a committee to make arrangements: J. H.Bryant, J. H. Sewell, Ort Wilson, A. B. Colwell, F. M. Compton and J. H. Barber.

Many of the farmers say the prospects for corn are the poorest this year they have ever seen in the county. Old corn is worth from 55 to 60 cents per bushel.

James B. Robinson, the banker, is at work on the foundation for an elegant new $15,000 residence on West Third street.

Clarence Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Cox of this city, and a recent graduate of the Kansas City Dental College, has decided to locate in Fairfax, Atchison county.

Guest at Frank Home

Mrs. F. I. Dunn of Bolckow has been visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. C. Frank, since Wednesday noon. Mr. Dunn will join her here tonight for a week-end visit.

ST. JOE VISITORS LIKED MARYVILLE

RUN INTO HEAVY RAIN ON LAST LAP OF JOURNEY

C. OF C. IS PRAISED

Roads All Way in Excellent Condition—Detours Are Well Dragged—Large Crowds Attracted

(St. Joseph Gazette)

Although rain was encountered on the last stage of the second sociability run of the Booster Club of the Chamber of Commerce, the first part of the tour was declared to be even more successful than the first trip which was made into northeastern Kansas towns about a month ago.

This time the sociability run extended into northwest Missouri and each place where the caravan stopped the townspeople were out in full force to welcome the St. Joseph boosters.

Headed by the Hugh McNutt band the caravan of twenty-five motor cars and approximately 100 men with several women, left Smith park at 8:30 o'clock. A slight delay in starting and two detours because of road construction made the party about an hour late at Maryville, where luncheon was served by the Maryville Chamber of Commerce at the Country club. The luncheon was served barbecue style in a grove just south of the new clubhouse, which is under construction. Plenty of good things to eat were supplied and the Maryville commercial organization was highly praised for their welcome.

Visited Barnard Picnic

The annual Barnard three-day picnic was visited by the St. Joseph boosters and here as elsewhere along the route a cordial welcome was extended by the Barnard business men. With approximately 5,000 persons on the ground the place was turned over to the St. Joseph crowd and the band aided by Gus Prinz and Asa Marker entertained the picnickers for thirty minutes. The Barnard band was dismissed for the time being and Hugh McNutt and his band were given the right of way. It was the second day of the picnic and was designated as the Missouri Farm association was in charge. Nick Smith of Columbia, purchasing agent for the association, made the principal address of the afternoon. Congressman Charles L. Faust of St. Joseph and John McDaniel of Savannah, Republican and Democratic candidates respectfully for the seat in the national house of representatives the next two years, will speak today.

Threatening clouds in the south east caused the "trippers" to pass up Bolckow and Rosendale and to make all haste in reaching Savannah before the rain began. They were practically successful in this, as the sprinkle started when the cars were about a mile from Savannah. The heavy rain between Savannah and St. Joseph caused several to abandon the trip by motor car and they made the journey to St. Joseph on the interurban. Others equipped theirs cars with chains and pulled through the mud.

Roads in Excellent Condition

The roads were excellent all the way from St. Joseph to Maryville and back to Savannah, including the detours, which were well dragged.

The first stop was made at Rochester, where a concert was given. At Union Star a welcome was extended the St. Joseph visitors by the Rev. J. H. Keplinger, pastor of the First Christian church. Harry E. McPherson, who, with Marion E. Cox, president of the Booster club, managed the tour, introduced William R. Hudspeth, assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce who responded to the Rev. Mr. Keplinger.

The next stop was at King City, where a parade and band concert were held. Judge J. W. Sullinger welcomed the visitors. From King City north a detour of six miles by way of Ford City was necessary because of road conditions between King City and Conception. Short stops were made at Conception and Ravenwood, where brief band concerts were held.

At Maryville, following the luncheon, a band concert was held in the courthouse yard and a welcome address was made by J. R. Lowry, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce. R. M. Duncan, St. Joseph attorney, who was unable to start with the caravant and made the trip to Maryville by train, spoke for the St. Joseph crowd.

Everywhere the visitors stopped they attracted large crowds with their white hats, canes, cow bells and other noise makers. Gus Prinz with his Ford locomotive and the minature cottage of the South Park Lumber Company, mounted on a Ford chassis, were the cause of much comment from the people in the towns visited.

C. H. Cousins of the Cousins Lumber company, with press representatives and Harry Smith of the South Park Lumber company, went ahead of the caravan and marked the route between towns. All turns were indicated by paper streamers.

Car No. 2, carrying several members of the band, skidded into a ditch between Savannah and St. Joseph on the last lap and was unable to proceed farther. All other cars that attempted the trip through the mud were successful, according to reports.

ing from the roars last night the average American has lost some of his respect for Congress the past two or three years.

It would be impossible to pick out the high points of laughter, for the entire play was a roar from start to finish. The scene changing was almost instaneaneous, as all scenes were laid in the same place. In fact the play and players were so splendidly adapted for the chautauqua that, to go back to the beginning, "Captain Applejack," with Keighley in person, "has a hard row to hoe" to excel it.

The prelude for tonight's program will be given by the Irene Stolofsky company. Miss Stolofsky is a violinist of merit and has with her two other artists, Miss Massman, pianist, and Mr. Bloom, a tenor singer.
